

Natasha Miller

Call: 2017

Natasha is an up and coming barrister adept at handling both public and private law children cases. She is very much at home in all levels of the family courts and assists clients in matters regarding allegations of abuse and parental alienation, among others. She is also well regarded for her work in financial remedy proceedings. Before joining Chambers, Natasha worked at the Court of Appeal of England and Wales as the judicial assistant to Lord Justice McCombe and ran the legal clinic for a charity.

Natasha was named Family Law Young Barrister of the Year at the LexisNexis Family Law Awards 2022.

Public Law Children

Natasha undertakes all forms of care, adoption and other public law proceedings, including representing clients faced with serious allegations of neglect, abuse, substance misuse, mental health issues and physical and emotional harm, including in cases involving non-accidental injuries. She has experience working with vulnerable parents, including those with learning disabilities, and of representing grandparents and Guardians.

Notable Public Law Children cases

- AA & BB (Children) (NAI - Fact Finding Hearing) [2021] EWFC B75

Natasha represented a grandparent in the pool of perpetrators in respect of alleged non-accidental injuries sustained by a baby. No findings were made in respect of her client.
