

Ruth Cabeza

Call: 1998

Ruth is a specialist family law practitioner who has been at forefront of developments in adoption and surrogacy case law, she is also an expert in the field of international abduction.

Ruth is a forceful and robust practitioner in court. Her breadth and depth of knowledge and experience across all fields of family law, enables Ruth to provide clients with a clear view on case direction and strategy, whilst also taking into account the emotional context of each case which can often provide the key to unlocking how a matter will be best progressed.

Ruth's specialities include: international adoption, international surrogacy, international abduction, complex care cases – particularly cases involving overseas placements and/or non-accidental injury, medical treatment orders and financial remedy.

Ruth Cabeza is a part time Deemster for the Isle of Man and sits in the island's High Court of Justice.

Disclaimer

Within the context of public law proceedings, Ruth is frequently instructed to advise on the relevant legal framework applicable to secure the permanent placement of children with extended family members who live outside of the jurisdiction of the court. Ruth provides clear advice in relation to the statutory and regulatory frameworks that governs the placement of a child habitually resident in England outside of the jurisdiction in respect of both adoption orders and orders under the Children Act 1989. Ruth also advises on the extent to which such English orders will be recognised and are capable of enforcement in the country of the carers habitual residence, and the extent to which mirror orders would be required to ensure that the carers are authorised to care for the children under their own domestic law once placed.

However, it is important to note that Ruth is not qualified to give expert advice in relation to the immigration law of any country (including the UK). Furthermore, while able to provide useful generalised information in relation to foreign family law, Ruth is not qualified to practice law in any other jurisdiction and does not hold herself out to be an _____ expert in the Family Law of any jurisdiction outside of England and Wales. Accordingly, while Ruth can advise as to the necessity or otherwise of a mirror order/visa, if one is required, she cannot advise on the domestic law of the foreign state that would govern the relevant application in the foreign state.

In many cases further expert advice on the domestic law of the foreign state is not required, however in cases where expert advice on the immigration law/domestic family law of the other country is necessary, this will need to be obtained separately, and Ruth is often able to assist with experts in international family law in the other state due to her network connections with the IAFL.

Public Law Children

Ruth is regularly instructed in public law children work at both first instance and court of appeal level. Acting for local authorities, parents, guardians and intervenors, she has extensive experience in this field and is often instructed in cases that involve one or more of the following complicating factors:

- Complications in relation habitual residence/jurisdiction
- Proposals to achieve permanency overseas with foreign relatives
- Disputes in relation to Article 15 Brussels IIA
- Fatal injuries to a sibling of the subject children
- Sexual abuse
- Serious physical abuse (burns/fractures/head injuries/ritualistic beatings)
- Medical treatment orders
- Abduction of looked after children (both under and outside of Hague)
- The profound deafness of one or both parents
- Deprivation of Liberty
- Children over 16
- Forced marriage of minors
- Suspected terrorism

Ruth is well versed in the various international instruments that govern mutual recognition and enforcement of adoption/parental responsibility orders. As a member of IAFL she often well placed to advise on suitable experts when cases involve the law and practice of Family Law outside of England and Wales, including in relation to orders/procedures/timescales/costings for obtaining mirror orders/declarations of enforceability in other jurisdictions.

Adoption

Ruth is frequently instructed to advise and act in relation to matters concerning adoption including:

- Step-parent adoption
- Revocation orders
- Leave to oppose adoption
- Contested adoptions
- Intercountry adoptions
- Declarations of recognition of foreign adoptions
- Domestic adoptions when the adopters are domiciled in the UK but habitually resident out of the UK.

Surrogacy

Ruth has acted for intended parents and guardians in surrogacy cases since 2010 and has been involved in several of the key cases where guidance has been given to the profession. She is able to give sensitive and practical advice on all aspects of obtaining a parental order. She has recently co-authored Surrogacy: Law Practice and Policy published by Lexis Nexis in 2018.

Notable Surrogacy cases

- Re: Z (Surrogacy: Step-parent Adoption) [2024] EWFC 20
This is a ground-breaking case – the first of its kind in dealing with a contested application for a step-parent adoption order from a non-biological parent to secure legal parentage of a child born after a traditional surrogacy arrangement.
- Re X [2020] EWFC 39 (20 May 2020)

- Re: IJ (A Child): [2011] EWHC 921 (Fam)

Private Law Children

Ruth is sensitive to the complexities that arise out of disputes between parents in relation to their children and seeks to get the heart of her client's underlying concerns so that where possible workable arrangements can be successfully negotiated, and where a negotiated outcome is not possible she will vigorously pursue her client's case at trial. With over 18 years experience of these cases she is familiar with a very wide range of applications, including disputes involving:

- child arrangements orders
- relocation cases (domestic and international)
- Abduction (within the UK, Hague, non-Hague)
- Inherent jurisdiction/wardship cases
- Education
- Change of name
- Declarations of parentage
